Union Chief Says Phone Strike Gaining

BEIRNE SEES NO IMMEDIATE SIGN OF PEACE

Company Proposal Rejected By NFW; Next Move Up To Schwellenbach

WASHINGTON, April 12—Telephone union president Joseph A. Beirne declared today that the week-old national phone strike is "gaining momentum" with no immediate prospects of settlement.

Beirne's statement was made as the AT and T withdrew at midnight last night its "final offer" for settlement of the long lines phase of the communication tieup.

The company proposal was rejected by the 49-member policy committee of the National Federation of Telephone Workers which is directing the fight of 300,000 striking AT and T system employees for a $12-a-week pay boost.

The union leader said the NFW, whose members have lost an estimated thirteen million dollars in wages in the walk-out, would not decide its next move until it heard from Secretary of Labor Lewis B. Schwellenbach on the union's latest proposal.

THE NFW suggested to Schwellenbach yesterday that he call a public meeting of government, AT and T and NFW leaders to seek peaceful negotiation of the controversy.

The union proposes to lay its case before President Truman if it cannot get such a parley.

Asked how long he would wait for Schwellenbach's reply, Beirne said:

"A reasonable time. How long is that?"

The NFW policy group stayed in session until midnight last night without retracting its opposition to the tentative agreement reached between AT and T and NFW's long lines affiliate for settlement of the dispute involving 20,000 long distance workers in 42 states.

A T AND T HAD given the American Union of Telephone Workers, NFW's long lines unit, until that deadline to "execute" the agreement or face company withdrawal of its "numerous concessions."

The NFW policy committee did approve, however, a new contract providing a $6-a-week wage increase for 43 plant employees of the Texas Telephone company, Sherman, Tex., an independent concern.

A union spokesman said the Texas case was too small to be considered as setting any national pattern.

AT and T and its Bell subsidiaries have made no cash wage offer. The lone-lines proposal of the company called for arbitration of the wage issue and several other major NFW demands.

4,500 NEW YORK PHONE WORKERS RETURN TO JOBS

ALBANY, N. Y., April 12—Approximately 4,500 Empire state telephone plant workers returned to their jobs today in the first break in the nationwide telephone strike.

The workers returned pending arbitration of their wage demands.

Henry Mayer, attorney for 15 striking unions denounced their move. He said:

"I am deeply ashamed of their action."

The 4,500 workers are traffic and repair employees scattered from Putnam county north to Malone and west to Buffalo. They are not affiliated with the National Federation of Telephone Workers but joined the walkout when it was called last week.

Americans Executed By Sino-Reds

LONDON, April 12—An unconfirmed Nanking dispatch to Reuters said today that three United States citizens and one other foreigner were executed two weeks ago by Chinese Communists.

The unconfirmed report said Communist troops accused the four of being Chinese nationalist spies and killed them on April 1 at Waoyaopu, 47 miles north of Yenan.

Chinese Communist forces were said to have withdrawn from the area immediately after the execution.

EARLY DECISION ON JULIAN SEEN

Man Convicted Of Second Degree Murder Sent Back To Jail

Final decision as to the penalty to be imposed on Harvey B. Julian, 26, convicted of second degree murder in the rifle slaying of his ex-wife, Pearl Eileen, 20, may be made next week in Pickaway county common pleas court.

Julian was to be returned to the county jail in Circleville, Saturday afternoon, after spending only 24 hours in the Columbus State Hospital to which he was transferred Friday afternoon by court order.

Three court entries were filed in the office of Clerk of Courts Arthur L. Wilder, Friday, and they (1) overruled the defense motion for a new trial, (2) ordered the sheriff's department to convey Julian to the Columbus state hospital for observation and report, and (3) committed Julian to the Ohio department of public welfare for a period not to exceed 60 days.

Inasmuch as the Columbus State Hospital, within 24 hours, requested the sheriff's department to return Julian to jail in Circleville it was deemed probable that a definite report and recommendation would be made immediately to the court.

Defense Attorney Emmitt L. Crist said that under the law Julian could be committed to a mental institution or sentenced to life imprisonment in the Ohio penitentiary. If committed to a mental institution Julian would likely be sent either to the Lima State hospital or to the Institute for the Feeble-Minded at Orient.

KNOWN DEAD IN TORNADO 133; HUNDREDS HURT

ST. LOUIS, April 12—Latest reports to the Red Cross mid-western branch in St. Louis today placed the known dead in last Wednesday's Oklahoma-Texas tornado at 133 persons.

The Red Cross said 86 of the fatalities occurred at Woodward, Okla., where approximately 800 other persons were injured.

Other casualty figures are: Higgins, Tex., 34 known dead and 232 injured.

Glazier, Tex., 13 known dead and 40 injured.

Whitehorse, Okla., 30 injured.

Gray County, Okla., three injured.

FLOODS THREATEN

NEW ORLEANS, April 12—A number of small streams; threatened to overflow their banks in the Mississippi river delta today, as the weather bureau predicted more scattered rain for Louisiana and Mississippi and additional strong winds in the Gulf coast region.

HOUSE SLATED TO VOTE STERN LABOR MEASURE

Final Committee Action On Stern Laws Banning Closed Shop Taken

WASHINGTON, April 12—The house labor committee today formally approved drastic new labor legislation outlawing the closed shop, empowering the government to halt strikes in certain key industries, and reducing unions to a "company level."

The vote was 18 to 1.

Three Democrats joined all 15 Republicans on the committee in voting to report out the bill, which will be called up in the house Tuesday for debate with passage slated Thursday or Friday.

House passage appears assured, the bill already having received the blessing of the Republican leadership. Debate will open Tuesday, with a final house vote Thursday or Friday.

HERE ARE some of the main features of what is probably the most far-reaching labor legislation considered by congress since enactment of the Wagner act.

All closed shops requiring employers to hire only union members are banned, existing closed shops six months after the bill becomes law. The union shop, where non-union employees must join a labor organization, is permitted, as is maintenance of membership, a milder form of union security.

Jurisdictional and sympathy strikes and secondary boycotts are banned, as are mass picketing and strike violence.

Unions must bargain on a company level. Industrywide bargaining is outlawed.

Practically no strikes may be called until parties to a dispute have exhausted collective bargaining machinery specified in the bill. Violations are subject to drastic penalties, involving possible loss of bargaining rights, stiff fines and jail sentences.

THE NATIONAL labor relations board is abolished, and replaced by a three-member labor-management relations board. Its administrative functions are placed in the hands of a $15,000-a-year administrator appointed by the president.

The federal government is authorized to obtain a court injunction in the event of a strike threat against the transportation industry, communication services and public utilities. A "cooling-off" period of approximately 75 days is then provided before a strike can be called.

Unions are made subject to the provisions of the federal anti-trust laws.

Welfare funds, such as that established by the government for the coal industry, are banned. No welfare fund operated jointly by management and labor would be permitted.

No union may be certified as a bargaining agent if any of its officers are Communists or "can reasonably be regarded" as such. Unions are empowered to expel Communists, but employers can continue to employ them.

The U. S. conciliation service is made an independent body, being removed from the jurisdiction of the labor department.

DECISIVE BATTLE OF PARAGUAYAN CIVIL WAR ON

ASUNCION, April 12—Thirty thousand government and rebel troops clashed today in the Ypane river territory of northern Paraguay in what was expected to develop into the decisive battle of the Paraguayan civil war.

Asuncion, the capital, still lay under a technical state of siege although the nearest insurgent troops were reported 186 miles distant.

WHILE MRS. EILEEN STANOWSKI, 27, does duty in the Chicago picket line of telephone workers, her husband, Howard, takes their 11-month-old daughter, Arlee Joy, for a buggy ride.

Truman Starts Third Year With Trip To Home

By International News Service President Truman observed the beginning of his third year in the White House today by flying to Missouri for a weekend visit with his 94-year-old mother, Mrs. Martha Truman.

The President left Washington at 8:10 a. m., EST., aboard the presidential plane "Sacred Cow" for the flight to Grandview, Mo., home of the elderly Mrs. Truman who is recovering from a broken hip.

The President arrived at the airport 15 minutes early and chatted with reporters and photographers before going aboard the "Sacred Cow" at 8 o'clock.

He said he was feeling fine at the beginning of his third year in office.

Mr. Truman commented that crises appear to be about as

DRAFT BOARD EXTENDS THANKS TO VOLUNTEERS

Appreciation for aid given the Pickaway County Selective Service Board by more than 100 volunteer workers over a six-and-one-half-year period, it was learned Saturday, has been expressed in the form of a resolution adopted at the final meeting of the board.

Legal functioning of the Selective Service Board ended at midnight March 31. The members were Duward D. Dowden, chairman; Attorney Earl A. Smith, Jay L. Clark, Dr. John L. Spindler and George H. Armstrong.

Chairman Dowden issued a statement to all of the volunteer workers. The statement says:

"At the final meeting of the Pickaway County Selective Service Board No. 1, held March 31, a resolution was passed authorizing me, as chairman of the Local Board No. 1, to express the appreciation of the Local Board for the splendid cooperation and many services patriotically rendered by the more than 100 volunteer workers in the administration of the Selective Service Act during the past six and one-half years. Your assistance was of inestimable value and most gratefully appreciated."

CINCINNATI TELEPHONE SUBSCRIBERS GET REBATE

CINCINNATI, April 12—Subscribers who have manual telephones were notified today by the Cincinnati and Suburban Bell Telephone company that one-third of their monthly charge will be deducted for each day service is impaired by the telephone strike.

About 20 per cent of the company's 285,000 phones are served by manual switchboards.

numerous as when he took office. Kenneth Daugherty, a nephew of Brig. Gen. Harry Vaughn, the President's military aide, accompanied Mr. Truman on the trip.

Mr. Truman will spend the early afternoon with his mother and then motor into Kansas City, where he will make a radio tribute to the late President Roosevelt at 4:40 p. m. EST.

The chief executive will remain overnight in Kansas City, visit his mother again tomorrow morning, and fly back to the nation's capital tomorrow afternoon.

As Mr. Truman begins his third year in the White House, he stands at the peak of his popularity over the nation.

The 62-year-old president has come through the first two years in office in remarkable shape. Physically, he is in top form. He has gained in wisdom. He is quieter and more serious in manner. And, he has gained greatly in confidence in handling the nation's top job.

Mr. Truman has aged very little, and his physician, Brig. Gen. Wallace Graham, reports that he is the healthiest man in the White House.

The physician says that the President, who will be 63 on May 8, has the vitality of a man ten or more years younger. Mr. Truman looks it.

COOL WEATHER SLATED HERE OVER WEEKEND

By International News Service Ohio weather was turning cooler today, with strong winds continuing to cause property damage in many parts of the state.

Weather bureau forecasters predicted near-freezing temperatures for Sunday morning, with conditions remaining on the cool side throughout the day. Light snow flurries were included in the forecast for northern Ohio.

Winds ranging up to 70 miles an hour in gusts were still being reported from the state. Forecasters said they would diminish through today but that the weather would be on the blustery side tomorrow again.

At Columbus yesterday the winds smashed plate glass windows, snapped power lines and blew off street light globes. A hatch cover on the Crane company building in Columbus was thrown off. It fell five floors and smashed the hoods on two automobiles.

MARTINS FERRY, O., April 12—One man was seriously burned today when fire broke out in the Lee hotel at nearby Bridgeport.

OHIO'S WHEAT CROP SLATED TO BE LARGER

Experts See 51,000,000 Bushels This Year; Pastures Slow

COLUMBUS, O., April 12—The wheat crop came through the Winter in excellent condition and indications today are that Ohio will produce two and one-half million bushels more than last year.

This cheering report came today from Glenn S. Ray, chief statistician of the Ohio Cooperative Crop Reporting service.

Ray said that indications on April 1 were that the total 1947 Ohio wheat crop would produce slightly more than 51 million bushels. Last year's total was 48½ million bushels.

"The crop," Ray declared, "came through the Winter with little loss of planted acreage and excellent for some late-sown wheat which is not too promising, the crop on the whole on April 1 was in fairly good condition."

STOCKS of corn on Ohio farms on April 1 was estimated at 66,738,000 bushels, a little less than a year earlier. Stocks of wheat on Ohio farms were placed at 3,882,000, less than half the comparative figure for 1946.

Dairy farmers were hurt somewhat by the late Spring. Ray pointed out that pastures were furnishing practically no feed to livestock on April 1.

Milk production per cow in Ohio herds consequently was down slightly from the 16.6 pound average of a year ago. Ray said the average on April 1 was 16.4 pounds.

Egg production on Ohio farms during March amounted to 265 million eggs, as compared with 291 million in March of last year.

POOR RECLUSE LEAVES FORTUNE OVER $150,000

CHICAGO, April 12—Public administrator investigators today were seeking new hiding places that might add to the $150,000 fortune left by August Richter, 79-year-old recluse who died of malnutrition hoarding his wealth.

The search was spurred by discovery of an additional $105,310 in cash and securities in a bank vault yesterday.

Earlier, police had found $41,251 in cash and securities in a battered trunk in Richter's squalid five-room home on Chicago's far south side.

In addition, two bank books showing balances of $3,500 and $2,345 were uncovered.

As matters stand, Richter's blind 89-year-old sister, Amelia, who shared the trash-littered basement flat with him, is apparently sole heir to her brother's fortune.

A petition to declare Miss Richter incompetent was filed in probate court yesterday by the Cook county public guardian. The hearing will be held before Judge William F. Waugh on Wednesday.

If Miss Richter is declared incompetent, and if no other heirs to Richter's hoard appear, the public guardian will be responsible for the keeping of the sister until her death. The money, apparently will then revert to the county.

OHIO STATE DAIRY COWS HAVE BIG PRODUCTION

COLUMBUS, O., April 12—There would be no milk or butterfat shortage if every herd produced as much as the 14-cow herd of registered Holstein-Friesians owned by Ohio State University.

School officials reported today that a year of production testing just completed showed the average butterfat production per cow as more than 2½ times that of the nation's average dairy cow.

UN Facing Severest Tests Soon

LAKE SUCCESS, N. Y., April 12—The United Nations is heading into its severest test as the explosive problems of Palestine and Greece today crowd aside all other issues in their order of importance on the April calendar.

The special session of the general assembly dealing with Palestine is slated to start on Monday, April 28, although the official announcement is still pending.

The security council next Monday morning reconvenes to continue debate over the $400,000,000 United States aid program for Greece and Turkey, with a Soviet resolution before the eleven-nation body calling for creation of a United Nations commission to supervise the spending.

An even more volatile phase of the Greek issue begins when at the security council the report on the border strike of Greece, Yugoslavia, Bulgaria and Albania is heard.

PAN-AMERICAN TALK AWAITED

Sen. Vandenberg Expected To Ask Stronger Union Of Americas

WASHINGTON, April 12—Sen. Vandenberg (R) Mich., drafted a major speech on the "good neighbor" policy today for delivery Monday on Pan-American day—midway in debate on the Greco-Turkish aid program.

Although Vandenberg was not expected to make direct reference to the 400-million-dollar aid plan, his appearance before the Pan-American union was interpreted as an assurance to Latin America that the good neighbor policy still stands with bi-partisan support.

The senate foreign relations chairman is leading the fight for approval of the "stop-Communism" plan for the Middle East, just as he led the drive for hemispheric solidarity under the United Nations.

Foreign policy leaders recalled Vandenberg's Cleveland speech of last Jan. 11, in which he criticized the failure to hold a Pan-American peace conference as provided for in the act of Chapultepec.

He warned then of evidence that "we are drifting apart—and that a Communist upsurge is moving in."

American diplomats have been concerned for months over small but active Communist units south of the border, particularly in Brazil, Cuba and Chile.

The GOP leader, well known to Latin-Americans through his work on the UN charter at San Francisco and later in UN councils, may link the problems represented in the Greek-Turkish aid plan and his bid for a stronger union of the Americas.

LINCOLN SAYS CO-OPS WEAPON AGAINST REDS

CLEVELAND, April 12—Co-operatives were held today by an Ohio farm leader to be America's only potent weapon in the fight to halt the spread of Communism.

Murray D. Lincoln, Columbus, executive secretary of the Ohio Farm Bureau federation, made the statement last night at a meeting in Cleveland of Cuyahoga county Farm Bureau members.

"Over the world," he declared, "for good or bad, people know there is abundance, and they are going to get it one way or another."

Lincoln characterized the present age as "a revolution against scarcity and for abundance."

FRANCE DUE TO JOIN FORCES OF U. S., BRITAIN

Vishinsky Hails Marshall Production Plan As Only Meeting Result

MOSCOW, April 12—Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Andrei Vishinsky hailed at least one "positive result" of the big four conference of foreign ministers today, but insisted Russia would stand firm on her demand for German reparations from current production.

Vishinsky said the "positive result" was the offer of United States Secretary of State Marshall to step up German production to an extent guaranteeing the Soviet Union a fraction of the 10 billion dollars in German reparations she has demanded.

Marshall conditioned his offer upon Russian acceptance of the American plan for a 40-year power treaty against German aggression and on reduction of the reparations demand to a "reasonable figure."

MEANWHILE, Soviet opposition to French incorporation of the Saar valley, a proposal backed by the United States and Great Britain, was seen as a break that may lead to partitioning of Germany.

Sharp division of east-west lines as the fifth week of the conference came to an end, led some observers to predict a possible break-up of the big four talks within the next two weeks.

Soviet Foreign Minister Molotov's brusque rejection of French appeals for the integration of the coal-rich Saarland was believed to be driving France toward merging her occupation zones with those of her western allies.

UP TO NOW, France has refused to join the merger in western Germany for fear of hardening the cleavage between the other two powers and the Soviet Union.

But a definite line-up of the three western powers appeared today as a result of Soviet refusal to join the United States and Britain in supporting French demands for the Saar.

Economic experts saw little possibility of France getting the coal she so desperately needs without this region.

And already there is talk of "unilateral action" in tying the Saar economically with France regardless of Soviet opposition.

Such a development would increase the economic interdependence of the three western zones and make eventual unification of Germany increasingly remote.

MINE DISASTER IS BLAMED ON COAL COMPANY

SPRINGFIELD, ILL., April 12—Gov. Dwight Green's fact-finding commission today placed primary blame for the Centralia, Ill., coal mine disaster on the company's officials.

Federal inspectors were exonerated of blame in the explosion which killed 111 miners March 25 in the Centralia Coal company's No. 5 mine.

The 46-page report of the fact-finding group urged that state mine inspectors be placed under civil service.

The report also accused officials of the Illinois mines and minerals department of an indifferent policy in their enforcement of state mining laws.

COSTA RICA COMMUNISTS ATTACK U. S. POLICIES

SAN JOSE, COSTA RICA, April 12—Communist feeling ran high in Costa Rica today against what they termed as United States and British imperialism. Charges that Anglo-American power "retarded the progress of small nations" were shouted by demonstrators parading through San Jose in memory of Juan Sarta Maria, Costa Rican hero.

SPELLING BEE SLATED MONDAY

Champion County Speller To
Be Determined At
Jackson School

Champion speller in Pickaway county's 15 rural schools will be determined at a spelling bee which is scheduled to begin at 1:30 p. m. Monday in the Jackson township school.

George D. McDowell, superintendent of county schools, explained that elimination contests were held this week in each school and the winners will clash during Monday's spell-down. In the preliminaries each class selected its champion speller, following by contests to determine the winner in each building. The eliminations continued until Friday afternoon and a full list of champions who are to compete in the county finals Monday was not available Saturday.

The entire program is in co-operation with the central Ohio annual spelling contest in 28 counties under the sponsorship of a Columbus newspaper. The committee in charge of Pickaway county's participation in the contest is composed of Supt. McDowell, chairman, Supt. Judson Lanman of Deer Creek township school, and Supt. R. D. Shauck of Jackson township school.

The boy or girl who emerges from Monday's competition with the title of champion speller of Pickaway county, Supt. McDowell explained, will be a contender in the seventh annual central Ohio finals to be held Saturday, May 3, in the Southern hotel at Columbus.

The winner at the Columbus finals will receive a four-day all-expenses-paid trip to Washington, D. C., and a chance to win the national championship.

The central Ohio champ's school will receive a 19-volume encyclopedia set. The student who cops second place will win a set of books as his or her personal gift.

The national champion will get $500 and a free trip to New York City.

The contest is limited to boys and girls from the first to the eighth grade who have not attained the age of 16 years.

HERBERT SAYS COLLEGES FAIL IN LARGE TASK

COLUMBUS, O., April 12 — Criticism of universities and colleges for failure to "develop in each of our students a genuine concern for the welfare of society" was voiced today by Governor Herbert.

The state's chief executive said that education fails in one of its most important missions "when its graduates go out with a disdain for public service and those who participate in it."

The governor pointed out that of over 91 and one-half million people over 21 years of age "only 35 million bothered to go to the polls in last November's election." Herbert told the Ohio College Association at its annual meeting in Columbus:

"Democracy is not of much force if we give only lip-service to it. While colleges and universities are justified in avoiding the appearance of taking stands on controversial issues and public policies, they are never justified in causing the students to believe that they must refrain from personal decisions on public issues."

DR. BLACKBURN SENDS PRIZE BIRDS TO BUSCH

Fame of Dr. A. D. Blackburn, Pickaway county health commissioner, as a raiser of prize fowls, has spread afar.

He received, Friday, a telegraphic order from August A. Busch, Jr., of the Anheuser-Busch, Inc., St. Louis, Mo., for two hens and one cock black-breasted Old English game bantams.

Dr. Blackburn said the order would be shipped to Busch Friday afternoon and that the fowls would be of the same type which proved prize-winners a few months ago at a showing in Madison Square Garden at New York City.

It Takes a Good Man to Know When to Do What!

There are a lot of good men working in automobile repair shops in and around Circleville. They're automobile mechanics—Doctors of Motors. They know that cars, trucks, buses and tractors must be kept running. Your car is more important than ever to you today. Don't let it be "knocked out" for want of mechanical service. Take it to your Doctor of Motors. He'll treat it and you right. I know—for I've been doing business with these men for years.

LIFE'S DRAWBRIDGES

Life's drawbridges are raised or lowered to admit passage. At the same time they may hinder other passage. A drawbridge may be likened to a compromise—one gives a little, that another may gain a little, so both may profit.

A motorist, temporarily halted in passage by the raising of a drawbridge, might be inclined to chafe at the necessity of losing time. Yet, on sober reflection, no right-thinking person would halt the flow of commerce that depends upon the drawbridge for its passage to the market places.

A drawbridge is a reminder that the other fellow has rights, too. In this fast-moving age in which we live, we are too often given to deciding an issue purely on the basis of our own selfish interest in the matter. Too little thought is given to the rights of others involved.

The Golden Rule is a good one on which to build a foundation for the most satisfactory kind of life to the individual who has it to live. "Do unto others as ye would they should do unto you" is a practical rule of life.

The churches and Sunday Schools of our community teach some valuable lessons in life. Regular attendance at your various church activities is a factor for good in the advancement of the interests of yourself and family. Such church and Sunday School activity also assures more consideration for the rights of "the other fellow" when life's drawbridges are being raised.

UNNECESSARY WAR

MUST ANOTHER WAR be fought before this nation, lately relieved from a great struggle, can settle down in peace and security? To almost every American the thought is abhorrent, and to most citizens the query itself may seem unnecessary. But out of our self-assumed peace and contentment there arise queries and echoes and doubts that are hard to ignore. They are mostly connected with Communist Russia, and there are many intelligent citizens on all sides who frankly insist that we are living in a fool's paradise. Soviet Russia, they argue, is determined to expand, at whatever cost in blood or treasure, until she is supreme in power and wealth and able to master our modern world.

It is rather difficult to say whether this is merely an ambitious dream on the part of potential foes, or whether the masters of Russia are in dead earnest. But recent behavior of that nation suggests an ambition for world domination by Russian Communism, and many Americans are convinced that she is determined to bend all possible effort to that end.

All this calls for no excitement of hysteria, but for calm observation of communism and possible troubles which might come from that quarter. If present situations are rightly handled, war with Russia is unnecessary.

GARDENING

"A GARDEN IS a lovesome thing, God wot," as the poet says. And there is probably nothing to compare with it except a child. The height of felicity is reached when mother and father both get out with the children after school and working hours and dig in the pleasant earth, and plant and tend the seeds, as has been the way from Adam onward.

Yes, they get terribly dirty, and drag a lot of unnecessary dirt into the house, and so on. But it's all wholesome and useful, and from such operations come a happiness and health beyond all price. Not to mention the food when it is gathered and spread on the table, fresh and fragrant as the Lord made it.

And as, says Father with the aching back, his children labored by the sweat of their brows to help it grow.

If you believe all you hear, every business without exception is short of men and materials, and some are even short of orders, with no hope for improvement. Yet, somehow, life goes on.

Some problems which seem new are really old. A North Carolina university librarian found in her collection a British book bearing this imprint: "Printed in the yeere when seacoale was exceeding deere, 1640."

The fellow who hid in a cave four years so he wouldn't have to fight will never know the satisfaction of being able to respect himself.

NEWS BEHIND THE NEWS

By PAUL MALLON

OUR TOWN, USA., April 12—Some of the papers here say Mr. Truman is really deeply distributed about prices now—not merely from the personal standpoint of proving he was right about OPA when congress overruled him, and not from the political standpoint of chiding Republicans. Someone around him said something about actually doing something, say, perhaps putting an excess profits tax on profits again. That would not do any good around here, maybe a little, but it does not even reach toward a basic understanding of our local problems, as the people are telling how they face it in our clubs and social gatherings and such.

A husband and wife here, for instance, who were well known, have been compelled to move to a cheaper apartment because she simply could not meet her increasing budget costs, although both had received good raises. No one is charging anyone with gouging around here—at least not publicly—but the money just seems to flow in larger and larger quantities everytime you turn around and the promise that everything would work out when production was acquired simply has not proved true. For one thing we don't have production yet.

One of our largest retailers thought he found a flaw in the production-price theory when he started to build an annex for postwar expansion. He had to take a cost plus contract in order to get the work done fast. No one would guarantee anything on material prices and labor. The work has dragged on twice the allotted time and the cost has been run up from two to four times the original estimate (he confesses the bite increased within those estimates but will not say how much.)

The reason for this price increase may be found in another specific instance our people are talking about and this incident explains why an excess profits tax or even the shortage of materials have nothing to do with the trouble. The steel workers agreed to work Saturday in order to push the job through, and with their time and a half or doubletime that day, they got $32. You might think this enough to pay rather high prices. But on Monday they all failed to show up. In short, they earned doubletime working a holiday and then took off the day or normal pay. The bricklayers on the same job disappeared one day. No one seemed to know for sure where they had gone but it was reported they ran off to the city for a day to get a premium wage of $22 on a special job.

Now an excess profits tax might be justifiable, our people say, on some of those big concerns—if they have any excess in general—but you cannot talk along that line to the restaurant man who got one third less trade this year on Easter Sunday than last, and says he served 200 less dinners over the Easter period. Nor can you talk that way to the Main street merchant who is not getting his stocks moved because people are not buying as they formerly did.

This is a nation of small towns for the most part and these true conditions of a small town are the ones Mr. Truman and his economists will have to face, but statistics. No one here believes you can cure prices by pressing a button, but we certainly might have production, a market saturating production this far after the war. That is what our people say.

Now I do not wish to report from these hustings that we hear nothing of excess profits. One fellow bought a piece of real estate for $2,000, for which our best judge of real estate had offered $500. Others have paid $17,500 for small houses with bedrooms

DIET AND HEALTH

Conditions That May Cause Skin Trouble Between Toes

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

PEOPLE who suffer with inflammation of the skin about the toes and, particularly, between the toes, are likely to jump to the conclusion that the trouble is due to ringworm or fungus infection. According to Drs. Fred D. Weidman and Frederic A. Glass of Philadelphia, however, fungus infection probably accounts for no more than one out of three such cases. Infection with germs, continued rubbing and sweating may all produce the same symptoms as ringworm infection.

Since this is the case, there has been great difficulty not only in finding the cause of the disorder, but in treatment, as no single drug or ointment will serve to get rid of all such conditions.

Many Patients Studied

Drs. Weidman and Glass made a study of 117 men whose feet were affected in these ways with the aim of finding some form of treatment which might be used in all cases, regardless of the cause of the disorder, at least to relieve symptoms and to prevent recurrence.

Of the six preparations tried, one known as metacresylacetate seemed to be the most valuable. Boric acid in talc was also quite useful. These preparations apparently cured the condition in about one out of six instances and brought improvement in three out of four. Benzoic acid and salicylic acid also brought improvement in three out of four cases but cured only one out of 20. It can be seen that none of these preparations was ideal.

Certain other facts were brought out by the study made by Drs. Weidman and Glass. They found that the frequency of infection was not affected by wooden, cement or stone floors. The symptoms were about the same no matter what type of ringworm was producing the condition. And there was no difference in the effect of the preparations tried on the various kinds of ringworm.

There appeared to be a great decrease in the number of infections in persons over 50 years of age. The type of ringworm producing the difficulty was different in the white patients and the negro ones.

It would appear that there is need for much further study to find some more satisfactory method of treating inflammation of the skin between the toes. Of course, when this condition occurs, a careful study is made by the physician to determine the cause of the difficulty. The treatment will vary to some extent with the source of the condition and its extent. Highly irritating preparations should be avoided since they will only tend to make the condition worse.

STARS SAY—

For Saturday, April 12

THERE are favorable signs of a clearing up of inharmonious and disagreeable domestic, social, or affectional relations, either by a change of heart or by the intervention of some rational and peaceable consideration of the underlying sources of disagreement and disturbance. However, any tricky or illicit attempts to compose conditions by way of schemes, misrepresentation, possible greed or imposition would but aggravate rather than amend. Study a delicate situation wisely.

For the Birthday

Those whose birthday it is may have an opportunity to compose difficult and delicate situations affecting the social, domestic, or romantic affiliations, which may have been in a devastating and disintegrating state. Such compromise may be effected by an honest analysis of difficulties and discord with a keen and kindly rationalization of affairs, but without resort to any form of treachery, underhanded methods or greedy subterfuge which would not amend but accent the unhappy circumstances. A child born on this day may be to gentle, kindly and affectionate, although prone to underhanded methods for gaining its ends.

For Sunday, April 13

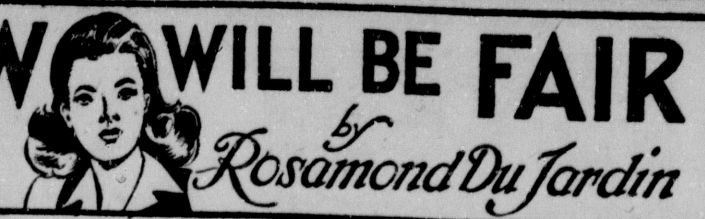

SUNDAY's horoscope holds augury of a splendid state of mind for concentrating on the orthodox and conventional place of the Sabbath day, with the emotions and mentality keyed to a high degree of reverence, generosity, charity and hospitality. Religious and ecclesiastical affairs are stimulated and may enjoy spirited celebrations or ceremonies. However, there is hint of some disagreement or misunderstanding with superiors or others in high places and power.

For the Birthday

Those whose birthday it is may be assured of an active, productive and fertile year in which all the energies, ambitions and aspirations are sure to find proud recognition for meritorious work, which may have an exceptional intellectual or crea-

CHAPTER THIRTY-ONE

LEX WAS saying, "I've already started to look around for a place of my own. Not too big—a hundred acres or so. That'll be enough for a dairy farm, which is what I want. Big enough for a start anyway."

Sherry tried to picture Kay on a farm—any sort of a farm—and couldn't.

But she said, merely, "I hope you find just what you want, that you and Kay will be happy—"

The telephone rang and Sherry heard Helga come in from the kitchen to answer it, heard her call, "It's for you, Miss Sherry."

She excused herself and went out into the foyer. Helga had already gone back to the kitchen.

"Sherry—Wade," the voice of her sister's husband came harshly, unnaturally to her along the wire. "Sherry, you must come over here at once. And get hold of your mother."

"But—I can't get hold of Mother," Sherry told him. "She's out of town and I—"

"You come then—quickly," Wade broke in. The urgency in his voice frightened Sherry.

"Wade, what is it? What's wrong?"

"Val—," he said. "She's very ill. Dreadfully ill, Sherry. She—his voice broke raggedly, as though he had sobbed—"she may not live."

Sherry felt coldness settle over her like a cloak. There was something wrong here, something strange. Val, who was never ill, who was so young, so vital.

"But what is it Wade?" she demanded. "What's the matter with her?"

For a moment there was only silence at the other end of the wire, a terrible appalling silence. Sherry became aware dimly of Lex, who had come to stand behind her, his hands resting on her shoulders. His hands were strong and steady, yet she shivered under them and felt them tighten comfortingly. Still her dreadful tearing fear grew.

"Wade, what's wrong with her?" He said then, repeating himself, "She's dreadfully ill, Sherry. She may not live—come on—come quickly!"

There was a little click as he hung up. After a shaken confused moment, Sherry hung up, too.

She turned then, with a little sob, into Lex's arms, felt them close around her, felt the rough tweed of his coat against her wet cheek.

She gasped "Oh, Lex—it's Val! I'm—frightened. Wade sounded so queer. He wouldn't tell me what's wrong—only that she's dreadfully ill—that she may not live."

He held her tight as the storm of weeping shook her. He was strong and dependable, a rock to cling to. Sherry didn't know what she would have done without him.

He said, "Get your things on. I'll drive you there."

But, in the end, it was Lex who got her coat, her hat, who helped her into them, who knotted her scarf about her throat. It was Lex who gave Helga a brief explanation then led Sherry down to the car and tucked her into it. She couldn't seem to stop shivering.

There had been—something in Wade's voice, something that even Lex didn't know about. Something that rasped and grated, something inexplicable and terrifying.

Sherry supposed she must have told Lex the Carringtons' address. The little car sped through streets jammed with early evening traffic. Lex's big hands were firm on the wheel. Somehow just starting at them gave Sherry a sort of vicarious strength. But she still had to hold her teeth tight together to still their chattering.

Lex didn't talk much during that nightmare ride. Sherry probably wouldn't have heard him anyway. Her thoughts winged ahead to what awaited them. Val—oh, Val—what is it? What can it be?

Over and over again her mind asked these questions. Over and over again, she thought incredulously. But Val is so healthy, so young and strong.

She must have babbled something of the sort aloud, for Lex asked once, "He didn't say she'd been hurt? It couldn't be some sort of accident she was in?"

"He said 'ill,'" Sherry spoke dully. "He said, 'She's dreadfully ill—she may not live.'"

"There," Lex said, "don't worry too much. We'll be there in a minute. Then we'll know..."

Sherry sat as though paralyzed after Lex had swung the car in to the curb in front of the pretentious building where Val and Wade lived. He half lifted her down, his hand under her elbow, propelled her like an automaton across the sidewalk, through the deeply carpeted lobby, into the elevator. His voice gave the floor to the operator, his finger pressed the bell.

A Filipino servant in a white coat let them in. His smooth, brown face was grave, inscrutable.

Wade's voice, its rasping undertone of fear even more plain now, called from somewhere, "Sherry? Is it you?"

She managed to say, "Yes, Wade—"

He appeared in a doorway then, his hands grasping either side of the frame as though for support. But a curtain came down over the terror in his eyes at sight of Lex, a stranger, standing there beside Sherry.

Lex was perceptive enough to see that curtain descend. He said to Sherry, "I'm going now. I don't want to barge in on anything. But I'll be downstairs. Do you understand, Sherry?" He gave her arm a little squeeze for emphasis. "I'll be near you in the car if you need me. Send someone down if you want me to come back. Otherwise, I'll wait till you come."

Their eyes met in a long look. Sherry murmured, "Yes—yes, Lex, I understand. And thank you—"

She turned from him then to follow Wade into the room beyond. When they were alone, Sherry asked shakily, her eyes wide on his twisted face, "Wade—what is it? What's wrong with Val?"

He sank down into a chair, his elbows on his knees, his face in his shaking hands. He said, "Lord, Sherry—this is awful! She took an overdose of sleeping tablets—too big an overdose for it to have been a mistake. She tried to kill herself—and maybe she succeeded."

"Wade—no—," Sherry sobbed, the uncontrollable trembling seizing her again.

"The doctor's with her now—a couple of nurses—," he rasped harshly. "They're doing everything they can—"

Sherry saw his broad shoulders shaken with suppressed sobs. Pity, a fear and grief that equalled his, made her feel closer to him than she ever had before. She laid a hand comfortingly on his shoulder.

"Wade—," she whispered—"don't. Maybe—they can save her—"

His tortured eyes came up to meet hers. "But—why, Sherry? Why did she do it? I don't know what I've done—how I could have driven her—"

He broke off and passed an unsteady hand across his working mouth. "I honestly don't know, Sherry. What could I have done?"

Sherry didn't know, either. She couldn't understand the motivation behind Val's act. Any better than she. She could only say, as Lex had said to her, "There now. Try not to worry too much..."

But her heart cried out within her, Oh, Val—why? And there wasn't any answer.

One-Minute Test

1. Can you unscramble the following sayings? Take they all sword that the shall with perish the?
2. After them that evil do lives the men?
3. Vision, the people where there is no perish?

Words of Wisdom

The poorest way to face life is to face it with a sneer.—Theodore Roosevelt.

Today's Horoscope

You are naturally very cautious and act only after due consideration. Your decision made, you will not retract any part of it and carry all responsibility. You love your home and continually try to make it more pleasant and attractive. Aspects today favor contracts, news, travel, agreements, appointments, contacting people of importance, sales and new possessions. Your own endeavors greatly facilitate the degree of success attained in your next year. Business expansion should be aimed for, but exercise caution in friendships and domestic matters. Born today a child will be very active, independent, enthusiastic, ambitious, energetic, witty and generally fortunate, although some love troubles are indicated.

Hints on Etiquette

Don't "run yourself down" to other people. People are not especially interested in what you think of yourself, even if you are sincere. They are inclined, also, to think that you estimate yourself correctly, and lose faith in your abilities.

Horoscope for Sunday

You have perseverance, are energetic and versatile, if this is your birthday anniversary. You are easy-going and when thwarted in your purpose, you are resourceful in accomplishing it in other ways. You are quiet and reserved, uncommunicative, and do not make friends easily, but hold the few you make. Your love is sincere and steadfast. The aspects are good for today. Profound clarity or completion are likely. Make things secure, clinch deals. There will be some disappointment, but also co-operation. Broadly speaking, a fortunate year lies ahead of you. Money will be plentiful and financial activities will prosper. Forge ahead, therefore, but exercise care in dealings with womenfolk. Born today a child will be most fortunate financially, and apart from one or two disappointments, in love or friendship, a long, happy life is envisaged.

One-Minute Test Answers

1. All they that take the sword shall perish with the sword.
2. The evil that men do lives after them.
3. Where there is no vision, the people perish.

Someday someone will perfect an alarm clock that will make waking as pleasant as do the songs of bird in Spring. Lay long abed just listening and glorying in the chorus. Finally told the clock it should be ashamed of itself and started about dressing for the day. Outside for a turn before coffee and found the lilac bush breaking into leaf and great bursting buds on the pear tree. Walnuts still look dead, but that is because they are pessimists. Never do trust the early warm spells and because of lack of trust miss some of the nicest weather of the whole year. The optimists are the ones for whom the birds sing and the sun shines.

North on Court street and this time making a penciled note that the Mound and Mill street traffic lights need retiming. Should be set faster, and could be without increasing the school zone danger. Also a note that the rail crossings are bad again. But that is as it always is. Council should demand a permanent repair.

At the plant did first learn of the death of William Hamilton. Really saddened by the news for I liked Bill. He was quick with a smile and a good word for all. That type man is entirely too scarce.

Looked over the foundations being placed for the new street light poles and tried to visualize a Circleville street lighted at night. No luck, so will have to wait until about the first of June when the new system will go into service amidst a celebration being planned by the Chamber of Commerce. The area covered by the new system now has 2,700 candlepower of light. I've seen banquet rooms with almost that much candle light. But the new system will be different. It will provide 37,000 candlepower. And that is a real difference. And it is not unsafe to predict that as soon as the new lights are turned on that citizens will begin demanding an extension of the system. We all like to be modern whether or not we are aware of the fact.

Came to a sudden and pleasant realization that salesmen once more are salesmen. The smart ones have quit acting as though they were doing you a favor by permitting the purchase of their wares. A good sign that will increase unless the threatened coal and steel and automobile strikes materialize. Pickaway Garden Club Plans New Projects

56 Members Attend Meeting In Lyle Home

Fifty-six members of Pickaway garden club were present Friday evening for the covered-dish dinner held in the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Lyle, West Mound street.

Spring flowers predominated the decorations in the home. Long diningroom table centerpiece was entitled "Easter Parade". Gay ladies made from fruit, vegetables and eggs were wearing miniature Easter hats in the procession.

Mrs. Blanche Motschman, president, presided during the meeting. Mrs. George H. Bentley, secretary, and Mrs. C. P. Heiskell, treasurer, submitted reports. Mrs. Donald Mitchell and Mrs. Clara Dresbach were received into the club as new members. Mrs. Ione Reichelderfer was named chairman of nominating committee for the selection of new club officers. Assisting her are Miss Mary Heffner and Miss Florence Dunt.

Club project of beautification of the War Memorial and Ted Lewis park with Mrs. Lyle chairman, had additional projects added to the list for the coming year. Mrs. Lyle has secured permission from state and county officials, permitting Pickaway garden club members to plant and landscape the roadside park west of Circleville at the present city dump, near the river bridge. T. D. Harmon, manager of Pickaway county fair grounds has given the club permission to beautify the fair grounds. Mrs. E. O. Crites, chairman of civic committee is assisting Mrs. Lyle. President appointed Mrs. Lyle chairman of ways and means committee, to cooperate with the civic committee assisting Mrs. G. Guy Campbell and Mrs. E. E. Porter.

War memorial to be erected will be in a suitable site and of a permanent nature. It will contain names of Pickaway county boys who gave their lives for their country in World War I and II. An invitation was extended to officers and members of civic committee to be present when Mr. Dupre, of the state highway department, speaks on "Roadside Parks" at the monthly meeting of Circleville garden club, April 16. Mrs. Donald H. Watt, regional director, is sponsor of the program.

Members of the garden club appeared in gay hats trimmed in garden and artificial flowers. Prizes were won by Mrs. W. L. Mack for the most comical hat; most interesting hat, Mrs. Heiskell and the most beautiful hat by Mrs. Fred Cook. Judges in the contest were Mrs. I. Smith Hulise and Mrs. Reichelderfer.

Mrs. Reichelderfer, program chairman, presented Mrs. Ward W. Robinson, speaker of the evening. She reviewed the book, "George Washington Carver, Plant Scientist". Hostess of the evening was assisted by Mrs. M. B. Kellstadt, Mrs. E. S. Roper and Mrs. Lewis Sharp. Time and place of May meeting will be announced at a later date.

Miss Friedman To Be Married In June

Mr. and Mrs. Max Friedman, Columbus, former residents of Circleville, announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Miss Pollyana Friedman, to Paul William Callif, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Callif, Bexley, Columbus.

The wedding will be an event in the last of June.

Loyal Daughters Class Members Meet In Ankrom Home

Members of Loyal Daughters class of First Evangelical United Brethren church met Tuesday evening in the home of Mrs. George Ankrom, York street, for their monthly session.

Mrs. Earl Radcliff was in charge of the evening's program. Scripture lesson was read by Miss Gladys Noggle. Patty Radcliff presented a coronet solo "Onward Christian Soldiers". Mrs. Clarence Ater read, "Service that Measures"; Mrs. Radcliff read "Upon Life's Sea" and Mrs. Walter Mavis read, "A Thought Of Thee". Prayers were given by Mrs. Frank Hawkes, Mrs. Russell Jones and Mrs. Clara Zwicker, class teacher.

MRS. HAWKES conducted the business session, when members made plans for a rummage sale to be in May. Group decided to serve a noon day dinner one day a week in the community house, with the proceeds to be applied to the new community house. Mrs. James Cook was named chairman of the project. Nominating committee to prepare the ballot for election of officers includes, Mrs. Wilma Warner, Miss Maggie Mavis, Mrs. George Ankrom and Mrs. Robert Arledge. Calendar committee members include Mrs. Elliott Mason, Mrs. Chester Starkey, Mrs. Loring Valentine and Mrs. Paul Gentzel.

Contests of the evening were conducted by Mrs. Radcliff and Mrs. Kenneth May and were won by Mrs. Ezra Pritchard and Mrs. Walter Mavis. Additional guests at the affair included, the Rev. Carl Wilson, Mrs. Wilson, Patty Radcliff, Nancy Ankrom, and Mrs. Lloyd Blue, Dearborn, Michigan.

Refreshments were served 31 members and guests by Mrs. Stanley Goodman, Mrs. Arthur Ankrom, Mrs. Clara Zwicker and Mrs. Ankrom.

Mrs. Hornbeck Is Hostess To Club

Mrs. Ella Hornbeck entertained members of her three table contract bridge club, Thursday evening at her home on Pinckney street.

At the conclusion of the games high scores were held by Mrs. Meeker Terwilliger and Mrs. Harold Grant. In two weeks the club will meet in the home of Mrs. J. Wray Henry, North Court street.

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

PROTECT YOURSELF

THERE ARE really two phases to correct play for any contract. The first is figuring out how to develop enough trick-takers for yourself. The other is planning to protect yourself against moves by the defense which may enable them to take too many tricks before you can collect your own quota. If it is a No Trump contract, this usually means having a stopper left when they lead the dangerous suit back. If it is a suit contract, this often means retaining a trump when the crucial defense winner is led, so you can ruff it.

(Dealer: South. Both sides vulnerable.)

South West North East
3 NT Pass 2 NT Pass

That bidding was done at only two tables of a duplicate game. In all other cases, North was left in 3-No Trumps and beaten by a diamond lead. So the two club slam declarers fought it out for top. One made it and one was beaten.

Each won the diamond lead with the A. Then the unsuccessful declarer scored three clubs and four hearts, discarding a spade. He had planned to lead spades from his own hand. To make this possible, he next ruffed the diamond 2 and offered the spade 7. East played low and the K won. Now he saw he was licked. He came to his hand with a second ruff of a diamond, but that used his last trump. When he led the next spade, East won with the A and set the contract with his diamond 10 to the K.

The other declarer did exactly the same except that he looked ahead and made sure he was not out of clubs when East got the lead. There the order of tricks was: diamond A, club A and K, ruffed diamond 2, spade to the Q, ruffed diamond Q, spade 3 to the A, diamond 10 ruffed in his own hand with his own last club while discarding dummy's heart 3, a heart to the dummy, the club Q, heart K and Q and the spade K.

Your Week-End Question

What reason can a player have for bidding his suit, other than to help his side get into the best contract?

Items any day in the week. I thought I'd get better ones in New York."

Wait until Grinder's switch hears about this.

Time for two shows—an amateur program with Billy Rose doing a Major Bowes and a program with Morton Downey as the star—is being found on CBS for the soft drink sponsor of "Spotlight Band" and Downey fame.

Milton Geiger, radio vet, will script "Adventures of Philip Marlowe" which will fill in the Bob Hope Summer time starting June 3.

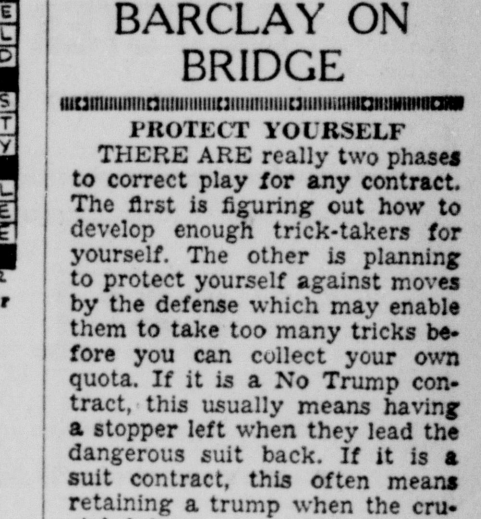

"Mr. Midnight", an adventure series, and "My Friend Mulrooney", a comedy program, are being offered to sponsors by the new radio package firm of Ted Corday and Wiff Roberts.

Arturo Toscanini is expected to sign this week for another season with the NBC Symphony. Toscanini vacations starting April 13 but the programs continue through the Summer with guest conductors.

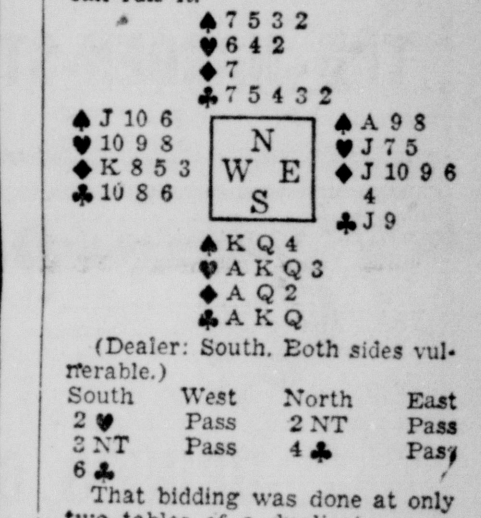

On the air, Minnie has as many relatives with as many foibles as Bob Burns, a script full of chit chat about the folks in rural Tennessee, and a twangy singing voice that renders best such mountain airs as "Looking For a Fella."

"Grinder's switch is a real place, honest to goodness," this comely lass said. "The

Union Chief Says Phone Strike Gaining

BEIRNE SEES NO IMMEDIATE SIGN OF PEACE

Company Proposal Rejected By NFW: Next Move Up To Schwellenbach

WASHINGTON, April 12—Telephone union president Joseph A. Beirne declared today that the week-old national phone strike is "gaining momentum" with no immediate prospects of settlement.

Beirne's statement was made as the AT and T withdrew at midnight last night its "final offer" for settlement of the long lines phase of the communications tieup.

The company proposal was rejected by the 49-member policy committee of the National Federation of Telephone Workers which is directing the fight of 300,000 striking AT and T system employees for a $12-a-week pay boost.

The union leader said the NFW, whose members have lost an estimated thirteen million dollars in wages in the walk-out, would not decide its next move until it heard from Secretary of Labor Lewis B. Schwellenbach on the union's latest proposal.

The NFW suggested to Schwellenbach yesterday that he call a public meeting of government, AT and T and NFW leaders to seek peaceful negotiation of the controversy.

The union proposes to lay its case before President Truman if it cannot get such a parity. Asked how long he would wait for Schwellenbach's reply, Beirne said:

"A reasonable time. How long is that?"

The NFW policy group stayed in session until midnight last night without retracting its opposition to the tentative agreement reached between AT and T and NFW's long lines affiliate for settlement of the dispute involving 20,000 long distance workers in 42 states.

A T AND T HAD given the American Union of Telephone Workers, NFW's long lines unit, until that deadline to "execute" the agreement or face company withdrawal of its "numerous concessions."

The NFW policy committee did approve, however, a new contract providing a $6-a-week wage increase for 43 plant employees of the Texas Telephone company, Sherman, Tex., an independent concern.

A union spokesman said the Texas case was too small to be considered as setting any national pattern.

AT and T and its Bell subsidiaries have made no cash wage offer. The long-lines proposal of the company called for arbitration of the wage issue and several other major NFW demands.

4,500 NEW YORK PHONE WORKERS RETURN TO JOBS

ALBANY, N. Y., April 12—Approximately 4,500 Empire state telephone plant workers returned to their jobs today in the first break in the nationwide telephone strike.

The workers returned pending arbitration of their wage demands.

Henry Mayer, attorney for 15 striking unions denounced their move. He said:

"I am deeply ashamed of their action."

The 4,500 workers are traffic and repair employees scattered from Putnam county north to Malone and west to Buffalo. They are not affiliated with the National Federation of Telephone Workers but joined the walkout when it was called last week.

Americans Executed By Sino-Reds

LONDON, April 12—An unconfirmed Nanking dispatch to Reuters said today that three United States citizens and one other foreigner were executed two weeks ago by Chinese Communists.

The unconfirmed report said Communist troops accused the four of being Chinese nationalist spies and killed them on April 1 at Waoyaopu, 47 miles north of Yenan.

Chinese Communist forces were said to have withdrawn from the area immediately after the execution.

EARLY DECISION ON JULIAN SEEN

Man Convicted Of Second Degree Murder Sent Back To Jail

Final decision as to the penalty to be imposed on Harvey B. Julian, 26, convicted of second degree murder in the rifle slaying of his ex-wife, Pearl Eileen, 20, may be made next week in Pickaway county common pleas court.

Julian was to be returned to the county jail in Circleville, Saturday afternoon, after spending only 24 hours in the Columbus State Hospital to which he was transferred Friday afternoon by court order.

Three court entries were filed in the office of Clerk of Courts Arthur L. Wilder, Friday, and they (1) overruled the defense motion for a new trial, (2) ordered the sheriff's department to convey Julian to the Columbus state hospital for observation and report, and (3) committed Julian to the Ohio department of public welfare for a period not to exceed 60 days.

Inasmuch as the Columbus State Hospital, within 24 hours, requested the sheriff's department to return Julian to jail in Circleville it was deemed probable that a definite report and recommendation would be made immediately to the court.

Defense Attorney Emmitt L. Crist said that under the law Julian could be committed to a mental institution or sentenced to life imprisonment in the Ohio penitentiary. If committed to a mental institution Julian would likely be sent either to the Lima State hospital or to the Institute for the Feeble-Minded at Orient.

KNOWN DEAD IN TORNADO 133; HUNDREDS HURT

ST. LOUIS, April 12—Latest reports to the Red Cross midwestern branch in St. Louis today placed the known dead in last Wednesday's Oklahoma-Texas tornado at 133 persons.

The Red Cross said 86 of the fatalities occurred at Woodward, Okla., where approximately 800 other persons were injured.

Other casualty figures are: Higgins, Tex., 34 known dead and 232 injured. Glazier, Tex., 13 known dead and 40 injured. Whitehorse, Okla., 30 injured. Gray county, Okla., three injured.

FLOODS THREATEN

NEW ORLEANS, April 12—A number of small streams threatened to overflow their banks in the Mississippi river delta today, as the weather bureau predicted more scattered rain for Louisiana and Mississippi and additional strong winds in the Gulf coast region.

HOUSE SLATED TO VOTE STERN LABOR MEASURE

Final Committee Action On Stern Laws Banning Closed Shop Taken

WASHINGTON, April 12—The house labor committee today formally approved drastic new labor legislation outlawing the closed shop, empowering the government to halt strikes in certain key industries, and reducing unions to a "company level."

The vote was 18-1. Three Democrats joined all 15 Republicans on the committee in voting to report out the bill, which will be called up in the house Tuesday for debate with passage slated Thursday or Friday.

House passage appears assured, the bill already having received the blessing of the Republican leadership. Debate will open Tuesday, with a final house vote Thursday or Friday.

HERE ARE some of the main features of what is probably the most far-reaching labor legislation considered by congress since enactment of the Wagner act:

All closed shops requiring employers to hire only union members are banned, existing closed shops six months after the bill becomes law. The union shop, where non-union employees must join a labor organization, is permitted, as is maintenance of membership, a milder form of union security.

Jurisdictional and sympathy strikes and secondary boycotts are banned, as are mass picketing and strike violence.

Unions must bargain on a company level. Industrywide bargaining is outlawed. Practically no strikes may be called until parties to a dispute have exhausted collective bargaining machinery specified in the bill. Violations are subject to drastic penalties, involving possible loss of bargaining rights, stiff fines and jail sentences.

THE NATIONAL labor relations board is abolished, and replaced by a three-member labor-management relations board. Its administrative functions are placed in the hands of a $15,000-a-year administrator appointed by the president.

The federal government is authorized to obtain a court injunction in the event of a strike threat against the transportation industry, communication services and public utilities. A "cooling-off" period of approximately 75 days is then provided before a strike can be called.

Unions are made subject to the provisions of the federal anti-trust laws.

Welfare funds, such as that established by the government for the coal industry, are banned. No welfare fund operated jointly by management and labor would be permitted.

No union may be certified as a bargaining agent if any of its officers are Communists or "can reasonably be regarded" as such. Unions are empowered to expel Communists, but employers can continue to employ them.

The U. S. conciliation service is made an independent body, being removed from the jurisdiction of the labor department.

DECISIVE BATTLE OF PARAGUAYAN CIVIL WAR ON

ASUNCION, April 12—Thirty thousand government and rebel troops clashed today in the Ypane river territory of northern Paraguay in what was expected to develop into the decisive battle of the Paraguayan civil war.

Asuncion, the capital, still lay under a technical state of siege although the nearest insurgent troops were reported 186 miles distant.

Truman Starts Third Year With Trip To Home

By International News Service President Truman observed the beginning of his third year in the White House today by flying to Missouri for a weekend visit with his 94-year-old mother, Mrs. Martha Truman.

The President left Washington at 8:10 a. m. EST., aboard the presidential plane "Sacred Cow" for the flight to Grandview, Mo., home of the elderly Mrs. Truman who is recovering from a broken hip.

The President arrived at the airport 15 minutes early and chatted with reporters and photographers before going aboard the "Sacred Cow" at 8 o'clock.

He said he was feeling fine at the beginning of his third year in office.

Mr. Truman commented that crises appear to be about as

DRAFT BOARD EXTENDS THANKS TO VOLUNTEERS

Appreciation for aid given the Pickaway County Selective Service Board by more than 100 volunteer workers over a six-and-one-half-year period, it was learned Saturday, has been expressed in the form of a resolution adopted at the final meeting of the board.

Legal functioning of the Selective Service Board ended at midnight March 31. The members were Durward D. Dowden, chairman; Attorney Earl A. Smith, Jay L. Clark, Dr. John L. Spindler and George H. Armstrong.

Chairman Dowden issued a statement to all of the volunteer workers. The statement says: "At the final meeting of the Pickaway County Selective Service Board No. 1, held March 31, a resolution was passed authorizing me, as chairman of Local Board No. 1, to express the appreciation of the Local Board for the splendid cooperation and many services patriotically rendered us by the more than 100 volunteer workers in the administration of the Selective Service Act during the past six and one-half years. Your assistance was of inestimable value and most gratefully appreciated."

CINCINNATI TELEPHONE SUBSCRIBERS GET REBATE

CINCINNATI, April 12—Subscribers who have manual telephones were notified today by the Cincinnati and Suburban Bell Telephone company that one-thirtieth of their monthly charge will be deducted for each day service is impaired by the telephone strike.

About 20 per cent of the company's 265,000 phones are served by manual switchboards.

OHIO'S WHEAT CROP SLATED TO BE LARGER

Experts See 51,000,000 Bushels This Year; Pastures Slow

COLUMBUS, O., April 12—The wheat crop came through the Winter in excellent condition and indications today are that Ohio will produce two and one-half million bushels more than last year.

This cheering report came today from Glenn S. Ray, chief statistician of the Ohio Cooperative Crop Reporting service.

Ray said that indications on April 1 were that the total 1947 Ohio wheat crop would produce slightly more than 51 million bushels. Last year's total was 48½ million bushels.

"The crop," Ray declared, "came through the Winter with little loss of planted acreage and excellent for some late-sown wheat which is not too promising, the crop on the whole on April 1 was in fairly good condition."

STOCKS of corn on Ohio farms on April 1 was estimated at 66,738,000 bushels, a little less than a year earlier. Stocks of wheat on Ohio farms were placed at 3,682,000, less than half the comparative figure for 1946.

Dairy farmers were hurt somewhat by the late Spring. Ray pointed out that pastures were furnishing practically no feed to livestock on April 1.

Milk production per cow in Ohio herds consequently was down slightly from the 16.6 pound average of a year ago. Ray said the average on April 1 was 16.4 pounds.

Egg production on Ohio farms during March amounted to 265 million eggs, as compared with 291 million in March of last year.

POOR RECLUSE LEAVES FORTUNE OVER $150,000

CHICAGO, April 12—Public administrator investigators today were seeking new hiding places that might add to the $150,000 fortune left by August Richter, 79-year-old recluse who died of malnutrition hoarding his wealth.

The search was spurred by discovery of an additional $105,310 in cash and securities in a bank vault yesterday.

Earlier, police had found $41,251 in cash and securities in a battered trunk in Richter's squalid five-room home on Chicago's far south side.

In addition, two bank books showing balances of $3,500 and $2,345 were uncovered.

As matters stand, Richter's blind 89-year-old sister, Amelia, who shared the trash-littered basement flat with him, is apparently sole heir to her brother's fortune.

A petition to declare Miss Richter incompetent was filed in probate court yesterday by the Cook county public guardian.

The hearing will be held before Judge William F. Waugh on Wednesday.

If Miss Richter is declared incompetent, and if no other heirs to Richter's hoard appear, the public guardian will be responsible for the keeping of the sister until her death. The money, apparently will then revert to the county.

OHIO STATE DAIRY COWS HAVE BIG PRODUCTION

COLUMBUS, O., April 12—There would be no milk or butterfat shortage if every herd produced as much as the 14-cow herd of registered Holstein-Friesians owned by Ohio State University.

School officials reported today that a year of production testing just completed showed the average butterfat production per cow as more than 2½ times that of the nation's average dairy cow.

UN Facing Severest Tests Soon

LAKE SUCCESS, N. Y., April 12—The United Nations is heading into its severest test as the explosive problems of Palestine and Greece today crowd aside all other issues in their order of importance on the April calendar.

The special session of the general assembly dealing with Palestine is slated to start on Monday, April 28, although the official announcement is still pending.

The security council next Monday morning reconvenes to continue debate over the $400,000,000 United States aid program for Greece and Turkey, with a Soviet resolution before the eleven-member body calling for creation of a United Nations commission to supervise the spending.

An even more volatile phase of the Greek issue begins when at the security council the report on the border strike of Greece, Yugoslavia, Bulgaria and Albania is heard.

PAN-AMERICAN TALK AWAITED

Sen. Vandenberg Expected To Ask Stronger Union Of Americas

WASHINGTON, April 12—Sen. Vandenberg (R) Mich., drafted a major speech on the "good neighbor" policy today for delivery Monday on Pan-American day—midway in debate on the Greco-Turkish aid program.

Although Vandenberg was not expected to make direct reference to the $400-million-dollar aid plan, his appearance before the Pan-American union was interpreted as an assurance to Latin America that the good neighbor policy still stands with bi-partisan support.

The senate foreign relations chairman is leading the fight for approval of the "stop-Communism" plan for the Middle East, just as he led the drive for hemispheric solidarity under the United Nations.

Foreign policy leaders recalled Vandenberg's Cleveland speech of last Jan. 11, in which he criticized the failure to hold a Pan-American peace conference as provided for in the act of Chapultepec.

He warned then of evidence that "we are drifting apart—and that a Communist upsurge is moving in."

American diplomats have been concerned for months over small but active Communist units south of the border, particularly in Brazil, Cuba and Chile.

The GOP leader, well known to Latin-Americans through his work on the UN charter at San Francisco and later in UN councils, may link the problems represented in the Greek-Turkish aid plan and his bid for a stronger union of the Americas.

LINCOLN SAYS CO-OPS WEAPON AGAINST REDS

CLEVELAND, April 12—Co-operatives were held today by an Ohio farm leader to be America's only potent weapon in the fight to halt the spread of Communism.

Murray D. Lincoln, Columbus, executive secretary of the Ohio Farm Bureau federation, made the statement last night at a meeting in Cleveland of Cuyahoga county Farm Bureau members.

"Over the world," he declared, "for good or bad, people know there is abundance, and they are going to get it one way or another."

Lincoln characterized the present age as "a revolution against scarcity and for abundance."

FRANCE DUE TO JOIN FORCES OF U. S., BRITAIN

Vishinsky Hails Marshall Production Plan As Only Meeting Result

MOSCOW, April 12—Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Andrei Vishinsky hailed at least one "positive result" of the big four conference of foreign ministers today, but insisted Russia would stand firm on her demand for German reparations from current production.

Vishinsky said the "positive result" was the offer of United States Secretary of State Marshall to step up German production to an extent guaranteeing the Soviet Union a fraction of the 10 billion dollars in German reparations she has demanded.

Marshall conditioned his offer upon Russian acceptance of the American plan for a 40-year-power treaty against German aggression and on reduction of the reparations demand to a "reasonable figure."

MEANWHILE, Soviet opposition to French incorporation of the Saar valley, a proposal backed by the United States and Great Britain, was seen as a break that may lead to partitioning of Germany.

Sharp division of east-west lines as the fifth week of the conference came to an end, led some observers to predict a possible break-up of the big four talks within the next two weeks.

Soviet Foreign Minister Molotov's brusque rejection of French appeals for the integration of the coal-rich Saarland was believed to be driving France toward merging her occupation zones with those of her western allies.

UP TO NOW, France has refused to join the merger in western Germany for fear of hardening the cleavage between the other two powers and the Soviet Union.

But a definite line-up of the three western powers appeared today as a result of Soviet refusal to join the United States and Britain in supporting French demands for the Saar.

Economic experts saw little possibility of France getting the coal she so desperately needs without this region.

And already there is talk of "unilateral action" in tying the Saar economically with France regardless of Soviet opposition.

Such a development would increase the economic interdependence of the three western zones and make eventual unification of Germany increasingly remote.

MINE DISASTER IS BLAMED ON COAL COMPANY

SPRINGFIELD, ILL., April 12—Gov. Dwight Green's fact-finding commission today placed primary blame for the Centralia, Ill., coal mine disaster on the company's officials.

Federal inspectors were exonerated of blame in the explosion which killed 111 miners March 25 in the Centralia Coal company's No. 5 mine.

The 46-page report of the fact-finding group urged that state mine inspectors be placed under civil service.

The report also accused officials of the Illinois mines and minerals department of an indifferent policy in their enforcement of state mining laws.

COSTA RICA COMMUNISTS ATTACK U. S. POLICIES

SAN JOSE, COSTA RICA, April 12—Communist feeling ran high in Costa Rica today against what they termed as United States and British imperialism. Charges that Anglo-American power "retarded the progress of small nations" were shouted by demonstrators parading through San Jose in memory of Juan Sarta Maria, Costa Rican hero.

SPELLING BEE SLATED MONDAY

Champion County Speller To
Be Determined At
Jackson School

Champion speller in Pickaway county's 15 rural schools will be determined at a spelling bee which is scheduled to begin at 1:30 p. m. Monday in the Jackson township school.

George D. McDowell, superintendent of county schools, explained that elimination contests were held this week in each school and the winners will clash during Monday's spell-down. In the preliminaries each class selected its champion speller, following by contests to determine the winner in each building. The eliminations continued until Friday afternoon and a full list of champions who are to compete in the county finals Monday was not available Saturday.

The entire program is in cooperation with the central Ohio annual spelling contest in 28 counties under the sponsorship of a Columbus newspaper. The committee in charge of Pickaway county's participation in the contest is composed of Supt. McDowell, chairman, Supt. Judson Lamm, of Deercreek township school, and Supt. R. D. Shuck of Jackson township school.

The boy or girl who emerges from Monday's competition with the title of champion speller of Pickaway county, Supt. McDowell explained, will be a contender in the seventh annual central Ohio finals to be held Saturday, May 3, in the Southern hotel at Columbus.

The winner at the Columbus finals will receive a four-day all-expenses-paid trip to Washington, D. C., and a chance to win the national championship.

The central Ohio champ's school will receive a 19-volume encyclopedia set. The student who cops second place will win a set of books as his or her personal gift.

The national champion will get $500 and a free trip to New York City.

The contest is limited to boys and girls from the first to the eighth grade who have not attained the age of 16 years.

HERBERT SAYS COLLEGES FAIL IN LARGE TASK

COLUMBUS, O., April 12 — Criticism of universities and colleges for failure to "develop in each of our students a genuine concern for the welfare of society" was voiced today by Governor Herbert.

The state's chief executive said that education fails in one of its most important missions "when its graduates go out with a disdain for public service and those who participate in it."

The governor pointed out that of over 91 and one-half million people over 21 years of age "only 35 million bothered to go to the polls in last November's election." Herbert told the Ohio College Association at its annual meeting in Columbus:

"Democracy is not of much force if we give only lip-service to it. While colleges and universities are justified in avoiding the appearance of taking stands on controversial issues and public policies, they are never justified in causing the students to believe that they must refrain from personal decisions on public issues."

DR. BLACKBURN SENDS PRIZE BIRDS TO BUSCH

Fame of Dr. A. D. Blackburn, Pickaway county health commissioner, as a raiser of prize fowls, has spread afar.

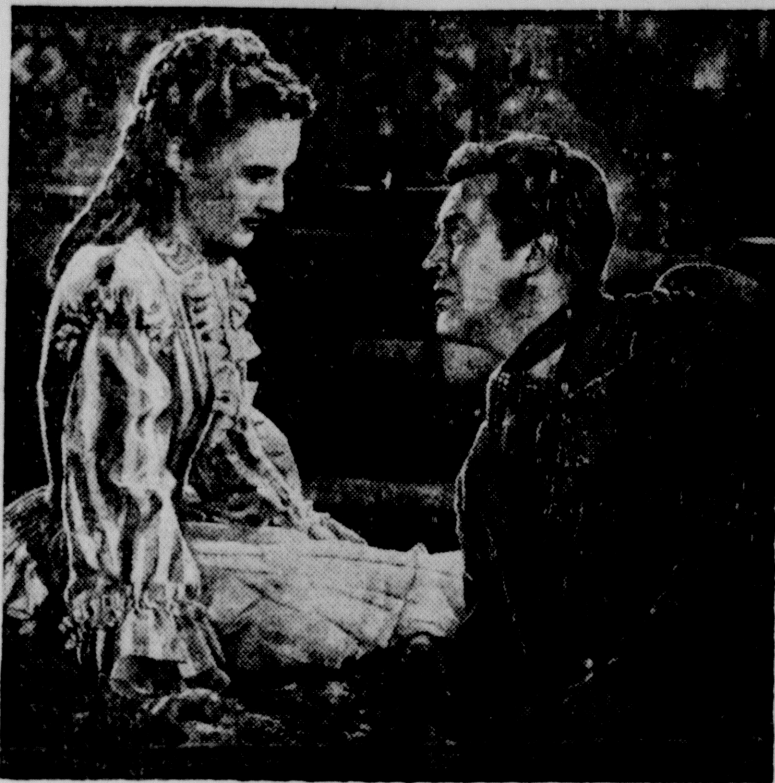

He received, Friday, a telegraphic order from August A. Busch, Jr., of the Anheuser-Busch, Inc., St. Louis, Mo., for two hens and one cock black-breasted Old English game bantams.

Dr. Blackburn said the order would be shipped to Busch Friday afternoon and that the fowls would be of the same type which proved prize-winners a few months ago at a showing in Madison Square Garden at New York City.

LIFE'S DRAWBRIDGES

Life's drawbridges are raised or lowered to admit passage. At the same time they may hinder other passage. A drawbridge may be likened to a compromise—one gives a little, that another may gain a little, so both may profit.

A motorist, temporarily halted in passage by the raising of a drawbridge, might be inclined to chafe at the necessity of losing time. Yet, on sober reflection, no right-thinking person would halt the flow of commerce that depends upon the drawbridge for its passage to the market places.

A drawbridge is a reminder that the other fellow has rights, too. In this fast-moving age in which we live, we are too often given to deciding an issue purely on the basis of our own selfish interest in the matter. Too little thought is given to the rights of others involved.

The Golden Rule is a good one on which to build a foundation for the most satisfactory kind of life to the individual who has it to live. "Do unto others as ye would they should do unto you" is a practical rule of life.

The churches and Sunday Schools of our community teach some valuable lessons in life. Regular attendance at your various church activities is a factor for good in the advancement of the interests of yourself and family. Such church and Sunday School activity also assures more consideration for the rights of "the other fellow" when life's drawbridges are being raised.

MISS DAVIS TO BE NAZARENE CHURCH SPEAKER

Sunday at 7:30 p. m., Miss Harriette Davis, R. N., will speak at the Church of the Nazarene, South Pickaway and Walnut streets.

Miss Davis completed her nurses' training at Grant hospital, Columbus, receiving her R. N. degree in 1942. After completing her schooling, Miss Davis had experience in private and institutional nursing, hospital administration and as supervisor in obstetrics. For 18 months she was a public health nurse in Columbus. Miss Davis also was connected with Berger hospital, Circleville. She has received wide recognition for her work.

Miss Davis is now under appointment by the general board of the Nazarene church as a nursing missionary to American Indians in Arizona and will leave April 17.

The public is invited to hear Miss Davis.

Army Film Shown At St. Philip's Meet

The Rev. F. B. Atkinson, Cincinnati, presented two pictures, one released by the U. S. Army which showed scenes of suffering in war-torn countries, at a meeting in St. Philip's Episcopal church parish house Thursday evening.

The Episcopal church plans to raise $1,000,000 to assist war sufferers.

Preceding the pictures and talk by the Rev. Mr. Atkinson, a covered dish supper was served.

'Jesus' Favorite Word' Sermon Topic

"Jesus' Favorite Word" will be the sermon topic of the Rev. Donald E. Mitchell Sunday at the 10:30 a. m. worship service in the Presbyterian church. Mrs. Arthur Wagar will sing

UNNECESSARY WAR

MUST ANOTHER WAR be fought before this nation, lately relieved from a great struggle, can settle down in peace and security? To almost every American the thought is abhorrent, and to most citizens the query itself may seem unnecessary. But out of our self-assumed peace and contentment there arise queries and echoes and doubts that are hard to ignore. They are mostly connected with Communist Russia, and there are many intelligent citizens on all sides who frankly insist that we are living in a fool's paradise. Soviet Russia, they argue, is determined to expand, at whatever cost in blood or treasure, until she is supreme in power and wealth and able to master our modern world.

It is rather difficult to say whether this is merely an ambitious dream on the part of potential foes, or whether the masters of Russia are in dead earnest. But recent behavior of that nation suggests an ambition for world domination by Russian Communism, and many Americans are convinced that she is determined to bend all possible effort to that end.

All this calls for no excitement of hysteria, but for calm observation of communism and possible troubles which might come from that quarter. If present situations are rightly handled, war with Russia is unnecessary.

GARDENING

"A GARDEN IS a lovesome thing, God wot," as the poet says. And there is probably nothing to compare with it except a child. The height of felicity is reached when mother and father both get out with the children after school and working hours and dig in the pleasant earth, and plant and tend the seeds, as has been the way from Adam onward.

Yes, they get terribly dirty, and drag a lot of unnecessary dirt into the house, and so on. But it's all wholesome and useful, and from such operations come a happiness and health beyond all price. Not to mention the food when it is gathered and spread on the table, fresh and fragrant as the Lord made it.

And as, says Father with the aching back, his children labored by the sweat of their brows to help it grow.

If you believe all you hear, every business without exception is short of men and materials, and some are even short of orders, with no hope for improvement. Yet, somehow, life goes on.

Some problems which seem new are really old. A North Carolina university librarian found in her collection a British book bearing this imprint: "Printed in the yeere when seacoale was exceeding deere, 1640."

The fellow who hid in a cave four years so he wouldn't have to fight will never know the satisfaction of being able to respect himself.

'ROUND CIRCLEVILLE . . . Hour by Hour

Pages From the Diary of An Antiquated Reporter:

Someday someone will perfect an alarm clock that will make waking as pleasant as do the songs of bird in Spring. Lay long abed just listening and glorying in the chorus. Finally told the clock it should be ashamed of itself and started about dressing for the day. Outside for a turn before coffee and found the lilac bush breaking into leaf and great bursting buds on the pear tree. Walnuts still look dead, but that is because they are pessimists. Never do trust the early warm spells and because of lack of trust miss some of the nicest weather of the whole year. The optimists are the ones for whom the birds sing and the sun shines.

North on Court street and this time making a penciled note that the Mound and Mill street traffic lights need retiming. Should be set faster, and could be without increasing the school zone danger. Also a note that the rail crossings are bad again. But that is as it always is. Council should demand a permanent repair.

At the plant did first learn of the death of William Hamilton. Really saddened by the news for I liked Bill. He was quick with a smile and a good word for all. That type man is entirely too scarce.

Looked over the foundations being placed for the new street light poles and tried to visualize a Circleville street lighted at night. No luck, so will have to wait until about the first of June when the new system will go into service amidst a celebration being planned by the Chamber of Commerce. The area covered by the new system now has 2,700 candlepower of light. I've seen banquet rooms with almost that much candle light. But the new system will be different. It will provide 37,000 candlepower. And that is a real difference. And it is not unsafe to predict that as soon as the new lights are turned on that citizens will begin demanding an extension of the system. We all like to be modern whether or not we are aware of the fact.

Chatted with Jay Clark and learned of a really rough plane ride back from St. Louis. Tag end of the storm that cost so many lives in Texas and Oklahoma. Roughest over Indiana.

Came to a sudden and pleasant realization that salesmen once more are salesmen. The smart ones have quit acting as though they were doing you a favor by permitting the purchase of their wares. A good sign that will increase unless the threatened coal and steel and automobile strikes materialize. Sometimes one wonders whether there is some sinister method in the madness of labor attempting to kill the goose that lays the golden eggs. Capital really is no goose. Could not be and acquire the means of providing employment.

NEWS BEHIND THE NEWS

By PAUL MALLON

OUR TOWN, USA., April 12—Some of the papers here say Mr. Truman is really deeply distributed about prices now — not merely from the personal standpoint of proving he was right about OPA when congress overruled him, and not from the political standpoint of chiding Republicans. Someone around him said something about actually doing something, say, perhaps putting an excess profits tax on profits again. That would not do any good around here, maybe a little, but it does not even reach toward a basic understanding of our local problems, as the people are telling how they face it in our clubs and social gatherings and such.

A husband and wife here, for instance, who were well known, have been compelled to move to a cheaper apartment because she simply could not meet her increasing budget costs, although both had received good raises. No one is charging anyone with gouging around here—at least not publicly—but the money just seems to flow in larger and larger quantities everytime you turn around and the promise that everything would work out when production was acquired simply has not proved true. For one thing we don't have production yet.

One of our largest retailers thought he found a flaw in the production-price theory when he started to build an annex for postwar expansion. He had to take a cost plus contract in order to get the work done fast. No one would guarantee anything on material prices and labor. The work has dragged on twice the allotted time and the cost has been run up from two to four times the original estimate (he confesses the bite increased within those estimates but will not say how much.)

The reason for this price increase may be found in another specific instance our people are talking about and this incident explains why an excess profits tax or even the shortage of materials have nothing to do with the trouble. The steel workers agreed to work Saturday in order to push the job through, and with their time and a half or doubletime that day, they got $32. You might think this enough to pay rather high prices. But on Monday they all failed to show up. In short, they earned doubletime working a holiday and then took off the day or normal pay. The bricklayers on the same job disappeared one day. No one seemed to know for sure where they had gone but it was reported they ran off to the city for a day to get a premium wage of $22 on a special job.

Now an excess profits tax might be justifiable, our people say, on some of those big concerns—if they have any excess in general—but you cannot talk along that line to the restaurant man who got one third less trade this year on Easter Sunday than last, and says he served 200 less dinners over the Easter period. Nor can you talk that way to the Main street merchant who is not getting his stocks moved because people are not buying as they formerly did.

This is a nation of small towns for the most part and these true conditions of a small town are the ones Mr. Truman and his economists will have to face, but statistics. No one here believes you can cure prices by pressing a button, but we certainly might have production, a market saturating production this far after the war. That is what our people say.

Now I do not wish to report from these hustings that we hear nothing of excess profits. One fellow bought a piece of real estate for $2,000, for which our best judge of real estate had offered $500. Others have paid $17,500 for small houses with bedrooms

Conditions That May Cause Skin Trouble Between Toes

By HERMAN N. RUNDSEEN, M.D.

PEOPLE who suffer with inflammation of the skin about the toes and, particularly, between the toes, are likely to jump to the conclusion that the trouble is due to ringworm or fungus infection. According to Drs. Fred D. Weidman and Frederic A. Glass of Philadelphia, however, fungus infection probably accounts for no more than one out of three such cases. Infection with germs, continued rubbing and sweating may all produce the same symptoms as ringworm infection.

Since this is the case, there has been great difficulty not only in finding the cause of the disorder, but in treatment, as no single drug or ointment will serve to get rid of all such conditions.

Many Patients Studied

Drs. Weidman and Glass made a study of 117 men whose feet were affected in these ways with the aim of finding some form of treatment which might be used in all cases, regardless of the cause of the disorder, at least to relieve symptoms and to prevent recurrence.

Of the six preparations tried, one known as metacresylacetate seemed to be the most valuable. Boric acid in talc was also quite useful. These preparations apparently cured the condition in about one out of six instances and brought improvement in three out of four. Benzoin acid and salicylic acid also brought improvement in three out of four cases but cured only one out of 20. It can be seen that none of these preparations was ideal.

Certain other facts were brought out by the study made by Drs. Weidman and Glass. They found that the frequency of infection was not affected by wooden, cement or stone floors. The symptoms were about the same no matter what type of ringworm was producing the condition. And there was no difference in the effect of the preparations tried on the various kinds of ringworm. There appeared to be a great decrease in the number of infections in persons over 50 years of age. The type of ringworm producing the difficulty was different in the white patients and the negro ones.

It would appear that there is need for much further study to find some more satisfactory method of treating inflammation of the skin between the toes. Of course, when this condition occurs, a careful study is made by the physician to determine the cause of the difficulty. The treatment will vary to some extent with the source of the condition and its extent. Highly irritating preparations should be avoided since they will only tend to make the condition worse.

STARSSAY—

For Saturday, April 12

THERE are favorable signs of a clearing up of inharmonious and disagreeable domestic, social, or affectional relations, either by a change of heart or by the intervention of some rational and peaceable consideration of the underlying sources of disagreement and disturbance.

However, any tricky or illicit attempts to compose conditions by way of schemes, misrepresentation, possible greed or imposition would but aggravate rather than amend. Study a delicate situation wisely.

For the Birthday

Those whose birthday it is may have an opportunity to compose difficult and delicate situations affecting the social, domestic, or romantic affiliations, which may have been in a devastating and disintegrating state. Such compromise may be effected by an honest analysis of difficulties and discord with a keen and kindly rationalization of affairs, but without resort to any form of treachery, underhanded methods or greedy subterfuge which would not amend but accent the unhappy circumstances.

A child born on this day may be to gentle, kindly and affectionate, although prone to underhanded methods for gaining its ends.

For Sunday, April 13

SUNDAY's horoscope holds augury of a splendid state of mind for concentrating on the orthodox and conventional place of the Sabbath day, with the emotions and mentality keyed to a high degree of reverence, generosity, charity and hospitality. Religious and ecclesiastical affairs are stimulated and may enjoy spirited celebrations or ceremonies. However, there is hint of some disagreement or misunderstanding with superiors or others in high places and power.

For the Birthday

Those whose birthday it is may be assured of an active, productive and fertile year in which all the energies, ambitions and aspirations are sure to find proud recognition for meritorious work, which may have an exceptional intellectual or creative value. The mind is particularly versatile and inspired to fine action, in which there are rewards of position, prestige, personal gratification as well as enhanced social place and financial increase. It is a time to aim toward advanced goals, with honors, rewards and acclaim in the immediate picture.

A child born on this day is exceptionally endowed with mental and spiritual gifts, promising place, prestige, honors and influence in whatever channel its efficiency and aspirations may be directed.

CHAPTER THIRTY-ONE
LEX WAS saying, "I've already started to look around for a place of my own. Not too big—a hundred acres or so. That'll be enough for a dairy farm, which is what I want. Big enough for a start anyway."

Sherry tried to picture Kay on a farm—any sort of a farm—and couldn't.

But she said, merely, "I hope you find just what you want, that you and Kay will be happy."

The telephone rang and Sherry heard Helga come in from the kitchen to answer it, heard her call, "It's for you, Miss Sherry."

She excused herself and went out into the foyer. Helga had already gone back to the kitchen. Sherry said, "Hello?"

"Sherry—Wade," the voice of her sister's husband came harshly, unnaturally to her along the wire. "Sherry, you must come over here at once. And get hold of your mother."

"But—I can't get hold of Mother," Sherry told him. "She's out of town and I—"

"You come then—quickly," Wade broke in. The urgency in his voice frightened Sherry.

"Wade, what is it? What's wrong?"

"Val—he said, 'She's very ill. Dreadfully ill, Sherry. She'—his voice broke raggedly, as though he had sobbed—"she may not live."

Sherry felt coldness settle over her like a cloak. There was something wrong here, something strange. Val, who was never ill, who was so young, so vital.

"But what is it Wade?" she demanded. "What's the matter with her?"

For a moment there was only silence at the other end of the wire, a terrible appalling silence. Sherry became aware dimly of Lex, who had come to stand behind her, his hands resting on her shoulders. His hands were strong and steady, yet she shivered under them and felt them tighten comfortingly. Still her dreadful tearing fear grew.

"Wade, what's wrong with her?" He said then, repeating himself, "She's dreadfully ill, Sherry. She may not live—come on—come quickly!"

There was a little click as he hung up. After a shaken confused moment, Sherry hung up, too.

She turned then, with a little sob, into Lex's arms, felt them close around her, felt the rough texture of his coat against her wet cheek.

She gasped "Oh, Lex—It's Val! I'm—frightened. Wade sounded so queer. He wouldn't tell me what's wrong—only that she's dreadfully ill—that she may not live."

He held her tight as the storm of weeping shook her. He was strong and dependable, a rock to cling to. Sherry didn't know what she would have done without him.

He said, "Get your things on. I'll drive you there."

But, in the end, it was Lex who got her coat, her hat, who helped her into them, who knotted her scarf about her throat. It was Lex who gave Helga a brief explanation then led Sherry down to the car and tucked her into it. She couldn't seem to stop shivering.

There had been—something in Wade's voice, something that even Lex didn't know about. Something that rasped and grated, something inexplicable and terrifying.

Sherry supposed she must have told Lex the Carringtons' address. The little car sped through streets jammed with early evening traffic. Lex's big hands were firm on the wheel. Somehow just starting at them gave Sherry a sort of vicarious strength. But she still had to hold her teeth tight together to still her shattering.

Lex didn't talk much during that nightmare ride. Sherry probably wouldn't have heard him anyway. Her thoughts winged ahead to what awaited them. Val—oh, Val—what is it? What can it be? Over and over again her mind asked these questions. Over and over again, she thought incredulously, But Val is so healthy, so young and strong.

She must have babbled something of the sort aloud, for Lex asked once, "He didn't say she'd been hurt? It couldn't be some sort of accident she was in?"

"He said 'ill'," Sherry spoke dully. "He said, 'She's dreadfully ill—she may not live—'"

"There," Lex said, "don't worry too much. We'll be there in a minute. Then we'll know . . ."

Sherry sat as though paralyzed after Lex had swung the car in to the curb in front of the pretentious building where Val and Wade lived. He half lifted her down, his hand under elbow propelled her like an automaton across the sidewalk, through the deeply carpeted lobby, into the elevator.

His voice gave the floor to the operator, his finger pressed the bell.

A Filipino servant in a white coat let them in. His smooth, brown face was grave, inscrutable.

Wade's voice, its rasping undertone of fear even more plain now, called from somewhere, "Sherry? Is it you?"

She managed to say, "Yes, Wade—"

He appeared in a doorway then, his hands grasping either side of the frame as though for support. But a curtain came down over the terror in his eyes at sight of Lex, a stranger, standing there beside Sherry.

Lex was perceptive enough to see that curtain descend. He said to Sherry, "I'm going now. I don't want to barge in on anything. But I'll be downstairs. Do you understand, Sherry?" He gave her arm a little squeeze for emphasis. "I'll be downstairs in the car if you need me. Send someone down if you want me to come back. Otherwise, I'll wait till you come."

Their eyes met in a long look. Sherry murmured, "Yes—yes, Lex, I understand. And thank you—"

She turned from him then to follow Wade into the room beyond. When they were alone, Sherry asked shakily, her eyes wide on his twisted face, "Wade—what is it? What's wrong with Val?"

He sank down into a chair, his elbows on his knees, his face in his shaking hands. He said, "Lord, Sherry—this is awful! She took an overdose of sleeping tablets—too big an overdose for it to have been a mistake. She tried to kill herself—and maybe she succeeded."

"Wade—no—" Sherry sobbed, the uncontrollable trembling seizing her again.

"The doctor's with her now—a couple of nurses—" he rasped harshly. "They're doing everything they can—"

Sherry saw his broad shoulders shaken with suppressed sobs. Pity, a fear and grief that equalled his, made her feel closer to him than she ever had before. She laid a hand comfortingly on his shoulder.

"Wade"—she whispered—"don't. Maybe they can save her—"

His tortured eyes came up to meet hers. "But—why, Sherry? Why did she do it? I don't know what I've done—how I could have driven her—"

He broke off and passed an unsteady hand across his working mouth. "I honestly don't know, Sherry. What could I have done?"

Sherry didn't know, either. She couldn't understand the motivation behind Val's act any better than he. She could only say, as Lex had said to her, "There now. Try not to worry too much . . ."

But her heart cried out within her. Oh, Val—why? And there wasn't any answer. (To Be Continued)

Words of Wisdom

The poorest way to face life is to face it with a sneer.—Theodore Roosevelt.

Today's Horoscope

You are naturally very cautious and act only after due consideration. Your decision made, you will not retract any part of it and carry all responsibility. You love your home and continually try to make it more pleasant and attractive. Aspects today favor contracts, news, travel, agreements, appointments, contacting people of importance, sales and new possessions. Your own endeavors greatly facilitate the degree of success attained in your next year. Business expansion should be aimed for, but exercise caution in friendships and domestic matters. Born today a child will be very active, independent, enthusiastic, ambitious, energetic, witty and generally fortunate, although some love troubles are indicated.

Hints on Etiquette

Don't "run yourself down" to other people. People are not especially interested in what you think of yourself, even if you are sincere. They are inclined, also, to think that you estimate yourself correctly, and lose faith in your abilities.

Horoscope for Sunday

You have perseverance, are energetic and versatile, if this is your birthday anniversary. You are easy-going and when thwarted in your purpose, you are resourceful in accomplishing it in other ways. You are quiet and reserved, uncommunicative, and do not make friends easily, but hold the few you make. Your love is sincere and steadfast. The aspects are good for today. Profitable clearance or completion are likely. Make things secure, clinch deals. There will be some disapproval, but also co-operation. Broadly speaking, a fortunate year lies ahead of you. Money will be plentiful and financial activities will prosper. Forge ahead, therefore, but exercise care in dealings with workmenfolk. Born today a child will be most fortunate financially, and apart from one or two disappointments, in love or friendship, a long, happy life is envisaged.

One-Minute Test Answers

1. All they that take the sword shall perish with the sword.
2. The evil that men do lives after them.
3. Where there is no vision, the people perish.

Pickaway Garden Club Plans New Projects

56 Members Attend Meeting In Lyle Home

Fifty-six members of Pickaway garden club were present Friday evening for the covered-dish dinner held in the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Lyle, West Mound street.

Spring flowers predominated the decorations in the home. Long diningroom table centerpiece was entitled "Easter Parade". Gay ladies made from fruit, vegetables and eggs were wearing miniature Easter hats in the procession.

Mrs. Blanche Mutschman, president, presided during the meeting. Mrs. George H. Bentley, secretary, and Mrs. C. P. Heiskell, treasurer, submitted reports. Mrs. Donald Mitchell and Mrs. Clara Dresbach were received into the club as new members. Mrs. Ione Reichelderfer was named chairman of nominating committee for the selection of new club officers. Assisting her are Miss Mary Heffner and Miss Florence Dunton.

Club project of beautification of the War Memorial and Ted Lewis park with Mrs. Lyle chairman, had additional projects added to the list for the coming year. Mrs. Lyle has secured permission from state and county officials, permitting Pickaway garden club members to plant and landscape the roadside park west of Circleville at the present city dump, near the river bridge. T. D. Harmon, manager of Pickaway county fair grounds has given the club permission to beautify the fair grounds. Mrs. E. O. Crites, chairman of civic committee is assisting Mrs. Lyle. President appointed Mrs. Lyle chairman of ways and means committee, to cooperate with the civic committee assisting Mrs. G. Guy Campbell and Mrs. E. E. Porter.

War memorial to be erected will be in a suitable site and of a permanent nature. It will contain names of Pickaway county boys who gave their lives for their country in World War I and II. An invitation was extended to officers and members of civic committee to be present when Mr. Dupre, of the state highway department, speaks on "Roadside Parks" at the monthly meeting of Circleville garden club, April 16. Mrs. Donald H. Watt, regional director, is sponsor of the program.

Members of the garden club appeared in gay hats trimmed in garden and artificial flowers. Prizes were won by Mrs. W. L. Mack for the most comical hat; most interesting hat, Mrs. Heiskell and the most beautiful hat by Mrs. Fred Cook. Judges in the contest were Mrs. I. Smith Hulise and Mrs. Reichelderfer. Mrs. Reichelderfer, program chairman, presented Mrs. Ward W. Robinson, speaker of the evening. She reviewed the book, "George Washington Carver, Plant Scientist". Hostess of the evening was assisted by Mrs. M. B. Kellstadt, Mrs. E. S. Roper and Mrs. Lewis Sharp. Time and place of May meeting will be announced at a later date.

Miss Friedman To Be Married In June

PROTECT YOURSELF

THERE ARE really two phases to correct play for any contract. The first is figuring out how to develop enough trick-takers for yourself. The other is planning to protect yourself against moves by the defense which may enable them to take too many tricks before you can collect your own quota. If it is a No Trump contract, this usually means having a stopper left when they lead the dangerous suit back. If it is a suit contract, this often means retaining a trump when the crucial defense winner is led, so you can ruff it.

That bidding was done at only two tables of a duplicate game. In all other cases, North was left in 3-No Trumps and beaten by a diamond J lead. So the two club slam declarers fought it out for top. One made it and one was beaten.

Each on the diamond lead with the A. Then the unsuccessful declarer scored three clubs and four hearts, discarding a spade. He had planned to lead spades from his own hand. To make this possible, he next ruffed the diamond 2 and offered the spade 7. East played low and the K won. Now he saw he was licked. He came to his hand with a second ruff of a diamond, but that ruffed his last trump. When he led the next spade, East won with the A and set the contract with a ruff.

The other declarer did exactly the same except that he looked ahead and made sure he was not out of clubs when East got the lead. There the order of tricks was: diamond A, club A and K, ruffed diamond 2, spade to the Q, ruffed diamond Q, spade 3 to the A, diamond 10 ruffed in his own hand with his own last club while discarding dummy's heart 3, a heart to the dummy, the club Q, heart K and Q and the spade K.

Your Week-End Question
What reason can a player have for bidding his suit, other than to help his side get into the best contract?

By R. J. SCOTT

Ophelia Colley is her real name—Minnie Pearl her radio name, the one she uses as the "Opry" comedienne. "For the past seven years," she mentally counted them off, "I've been typed in this single role. But it pays dividends in fan response as well as continuous booking." So you can see Minnie is no hillbilly.

folks no live there don't mind the kidding I give them on the air. They like it and are among my most loyal listeners."

"Opry" is broadcast from Nashville. A trip to New York is a little off the beaten path, so Ophelia dressed in a fetching brown tweed suit and perky hat, and carrying a satchel with her Minnie Pearl duds (gingham dress and bonnet) took advantage of the big city to do some shopping.

As soon as she set foot on Manhattan's concrete, she whisked through the city's fashionable department stores looking for a chimney lamp and buggy whip, which the stores accustomed to subway riding customers were unable to produce.

Being the belle of the backwoods a La Judy Canova wasn't Ophelia's idea when she graduated from a swank finishing school. She really had her heart set on a Broadway career. In between, she taught school for a while and then lectured in the mountain country picking up the little bits of home talk she uses now as the "gossip of Grinder's Switch."

On the air, Minnie has as many relatives with as many foibles as Bob Burns, a script full of chit chat about the folks in rural Tennessee, and a twangy singing voice that renders best such mountain airs as "Looking for a Fella."

"Grinder's switch is a real place, honest to goodness," this comely lass said. "The

But it was mostly a disappointment. "Here I come all the way from Tennessee and find that I can do far better shopping back home."

As soon as she set foot on Manhattan's concrete, she whisked through the city's fashionable department stores looking for a chimney lamp and buggy whip, which the stores accustomed to subway riding customers were unable to produce.

"Imagine?" was Ophelia's surprised comment. "Back in Grinder's Switch, which mind you is just a crossroads near Centerville, you can pick up such items any day in the week. I thought I'd get better ones in New York."

Wait until Grinder's switch hears about this.

Time for two shows—an amateur program with Billy Rose doing a Major Bowes and a program with Morton Downey as the star—is being found on CBS for the soft drink sponsor of "Spotlight Band" and Downey fame.

Milton Geiger, radio vet, will script "Adventures of Philip Marlowe" which will fill in the Bob Hope Summer time starting June 3.

"Mr. Midnight", an adventure series, and "My Friend Mulrooney," a comedy program, are being offered to sponsors by the new radio package firm of Ted Corday and Wiff Roberts.

Arturo Toscanini is expected to sign this week for another season with the NBC Symphony. Toscanini vacations starting April 13 but the programs continue through the Summer with guest conductors.

That's the one thing that gets sor in New York." Minnie r puckered her pretty foreword. "People usually associate word hillbilly with illiteracy.
folk entertainment is not essary hillbilly entertainment. We call it a cowboy or tern show."

and this gal from Cent-
Tenn., is no hillbilly.
